

24 Hour Recovery ~ Waiting Eight Years for Breast Augmentation

Terrye -

Thank you so much for being such a great advisor and wonderful person! When I first came to you about eight years ago I was devastated when you advised me against going ahead with implants. Now I am so thankful that I waited until after having my babies. I firmly believe that had I gone to see anyone else eight years ago they would have given me implants in a heartbeat and the results wouldn't have been nearly as good as they are now.

As you know, I am eight days post-op now and I would have written earlier but I've been too busy! I never believed the recovery would be so easy. I went to work the day after surgery without any issues and have been doing everything I normally do (except lifting my 45 lb daughter and running). On the other hand, I was able to lift my younger daughter (25 lbs) right away. My girls don't even know I had surgery...amazing!

I have so much respect for and confidence in you, Dr. Tebbetts and your practice that I really didn't feel any stress leading up to the surgery. I agonized over choosing a surgeon, which was silly because I always felt at home with you, but once I decided I knew I made the right decision and was able to relax.

Now, for how I look...I'm looking forward to seeing my breasts after the "dropping and fluffing" but even if they stayed like they are right now I'm thrilled! Implants actually aren't common in my circle of friends and everyone is amazed at how great they look. Definitely not the look that comes to mind when you say boob job!

Thank you for everything!
